Why your contribution matters

Rural communities like the Shenandoah Valley face a choice: adapt someone else's version of innovation—or create our own.

Too often, tech and entrepreneurship ecosystems overlook places like ours, leaving behind untapped talent, struggling local economies, and fading downtowns. Founders and Futurists is our response: a gathering where innovators, business owners, and community champions come together to imagine a future rooted in local values, economic resilience, and shared opportunity. By blending the business support of SCCF's Entrepreneurship Summit with the innovation of SVTC's TechCon, this event becomes more than a conference—it's the starting point for our community to grow wealth, retain our identity, and shape a new rural economy on our own terms.

We can't build this future alone. By sponsoring Founders and Futurists, you're helping bring together the people, ideas, and energy needed to grow something real and lasting right here in the Shenandoah Valley. Your support means more chances for local businesses to thrive, more opportunities for our young people to stay and succeed, and a stronger, more connected community for all of us. Let's shape what comes next—together!
